

Nationwide Search Under Way For Copies Of 'Ten Nights In A Barroom'

Stroudsburg High School librarian Janet Bender is currently engaged in a one-woman "rare book" treasure hunt which may mean the difference between a $25,000 trust fund for the school board and nothing, in accordance with prohibitionist Samuel M. Schoonover's last will and testament.

Miss Bender's search for the "rare books" was touched off last week when school board members were notified of a codicil in the Schoonover will which stated that the school library must have ten copies of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" on hand at all times for the use of its students.

Specifically, Schoonover stated that the ten copies should be bought "as the first purchase from the Susan Rouse Schoonover (his grandmother) fund".

The Stroudsburg School board received its first payment from the trust fund at last Thursday night's meeting—a check for $2,422.56 from the First Stroudsburg National Bank, trustees of the estate.

School board members immediately authorized the purchase of the ten copies of Timothy Shay Arthur's ancient (19th century) temperance classic.

This, it developed, was easier said than done.

The volume has been out of print since 1909. Most public libraries and private homes have discarded their copies in favor of "The Lost Weekend" or "The Story of Mrs. Murphy", psychological treatments of the alcoholic problem.

Miss Bender discovered one dusty, dog-eared copy in the school library. It had not been extensively used, she indicated.

Yesterday, the librarian received a phone call notifying her that a Rochester, N. Y. gasoline station operator — Alphonse Papalia—had wrapped and mailed Philadelphia and other parts of the country, offering to sell copies of the book "at a high bid".

At present the school board is adopting a "let's wait and see" attitude. It is also refusing to accept collect telephone calls in reference to the book. (One man called early yesterday morning and asked for an "offer" on a copy of the book which he said was in his possession. The toll charges, school directors and Miss Bender feel, would put a considerable dent in their dividend from the trust fund even if it were to be paid immediately.)

Telegrams have been received from San Francisco, California and a Drexel Hill, Pa. woman wired to ask for an "offer" on her copy of the book.

Miss Bender received two letters from Philadelphia yesterday offering to let the school have their copies and stating they had read about the unusual search in newspapers in that area.

The most unusual offer so far has come from a Baltimore, Md. woman who telephoned to say she would be glad to "loan the school an edition of the book so you can make copies of it if you want to".

The librarian thanked the woman and explained that, if it were possible to use "copies" to meet the stipulation, the school already had one copy on hand.

So far, Miss Bender's search has netted the school library three more copies of a book which most people in the present generation have heard about, but never read.

Janet Bender thinks there "must be more copies of the book right around here, if people would go through those forgotten volumes in the attic."

She and the school board are currently making a special appeal to persons in this community for assistance in finding the remaining six copies.

"After all," the librarian says, "it's the Stroudsburg school system which benefits. We (of the faculty and the board) feel that Mr. Schoonover's will has set up an immensely beneficial source of revenue from which all residents and their children may benefit."

Meanwhile, the temperate search for a temperance "best-seller" goes on.

Willie Sutton Arrested; Long-Sought Bank Robber

New York (AP) — Willie (The Actor) Sutton, the smoothest bank robber in the nation, was arrested yesterday on a fluke, ending a vast, five-year-old manhunt.

Two policemen picked him up three blocks from Brooklyn police headquarters for a routine check because they saw him tampering with a parked automobile. Ironically, it was Sutton's own car.

Police Commissioner George Monaghan—beside himself with elation—called Willie "the Babe Ruth of bank robbers."

"This ends the greatest manhunt in history," said Monaghan enthusiastically. "In my judgment he's the world's number one criminal. It's the best collar (arrest) in a long, long time."

Willie first denied he was the long-sought bank bandit. But his captors persisted, asking:

"You are Sutton, aren't you?" Finally, Willie gave in. Later he was quoted as saying: "I'm 51 years old, I'm tired of it all. I might as well be dead. You can kill me for all I care."

Sutton's career as a master jewel thief and cleverly disguised bank robber dates back more than 20 years.

He twice escaped from prison, the last time in Pennsylvania in 1947. He has been widely sought ever since.

Sutton's name often was mentioned in connection with the $1,500,000 Brinks, Inc., robbery in Boston in 1950. He was linked to a $64,000 bank robbery in New York City the same year.

He gained the name "the Actor" because of the disguises he used on his bank jobs—Western Union messenger, mail carrier, private chauffeur. He even dressed as a policeman once to direct a bank robbery.

Sutton lived in a furnished room at 340 Dean St., in the heart of Brooklyn and within shouting distance of police headquarters there. He didn't say how long he'd lived there.

Before that he lived in Staten Island, moving out of a rooming house a jump ahead of the law in 1950.

The FBI called him one of the nation's 10 most wanted men.

His quiet, polite manner behind the business end of a gun so impressed his victims that some of them even found him "kind of lovable."

But the FBI said he was "extremely dangerous," adding that "his good manners have their limits, especially if he faces capture."

Negotiators Agreed On Conference

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday (AP) — Allied and Communist negotiators today apparently reached agreement in principle on the Red proposal for a post-armistice conference on Korea, a U. N. command spokesman announced.

The Allies suggested that the Red proposal of last Saturday be accepted completely by both sides. The Reds wanted staff officers to work out the details.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official Allied spokesman, said "it appears there is agreement, since they (the Communists) suggest that it be turned over to staff officers."

The Communists asked for a 40-minute recess to study the Allied proposal. Another 39-minute session was held before the truce teams adjourned for the day.

No definite time was set for another full-dress session.

Nuckols said Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied negotiator, told the Reds, "It appears that the agreement which we have reached is a full solution to this item of the agenda."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il gave no hint of the details he discussed the staff officers to discuss.

Earlier, however, he cleared up one point.

He said the word "etc." tacked on the list of things the Reds wanted discussed later, "neither binds the political conference to discuss certain questions, nor does it exclude certain political questions from the agenda."

Allied sources feared the "etc" might be an "open sesame" for the Reds to expand the Korean talks into a discussion of all outstanding Asian problems.

The Reds called off a plenary session scheduled for Monday. They asked for more time to consider the Allied acceptance of their proposal.

In a staff officer meeting Monday, the Communists pressed for Allied acceptance of Russia as a neutral nation to help police the truce.

U.S. Born German Who Has Served Under Two Flags Spends Honeymoon At Poconos Resort

For Pfc. Christfried Broders of the U. S. Marine Corps the road between New York City and Cresco, Pa. has been a long one.

Broders was born in New York 25 years ago. Since that time he has crossed the Atlantic and gone through a war "in defense" of his homeland.

At first glance, Broders' story seems no different from hundreds of thousands of other stories—all of them about soldiers.

There is a difference, however—Broders was on the "other side."

The story of this American citizen who grew up to become a member of Hitler's youth groups and, eventually, a Nazi soldier, began when Broders was a year old.

At that time Broders' parents took him to live with them in Germany. Broders' father was of German ancestry.

When the young Broders was 16 and a-half years old he was inducted into the Nazi army and given six months of "basic" training which, today, he contrasts with the training course given by the U. S. Marine Corps.

Shortly after he had completed his military training, Broders was asked his opinion. "It was so easy," he said, "compared with the German Army's boot camp."

Broders received his first "training" at the age of nine in the "Hitler Youth" organization.

Upon completion of his six months "boot training," Broders was sent into action against the Russian Army where he fought for nearly a year before wounds sent him back to a German hospital.

The hospitalization lasted two months. Upon release Broders was assigned to a POW camp in Germany as a guard.

By that time the Second World War was nearly at an end. When Hitler "died," Broders, along with thousands of other Nazi soldiers, left for home without waiting for news of an official armistice.

His "homecoming" was spoiled by the British Army near Hamburg where he was apprehended and held as a prisoner. He spent three months following his arrest at a detention camp at Schleswig Holstein, under the surveillance of British soldiers. After his release from the prison camp, Broders returned home and worked as a carpenter with his father.

In April, 1948 with Germany in a state of economic and political chaos, Broders came to New York to "visit and uncle and aunt." He says now he intended to stay "a couple of years."

The "visit" was prolonged, however, until 1951. In August of that year, Broders was inducted under selective service regulations into the Marine Corps. (A provision in immigration laws states that American citizens who were "inducted into the German Army un-

Two Tankers Split Apart In Wild Sea

Boston, (AP) — A howling northeast blizzard—the worst storm of the winter — took 29 lives in the northeast states yesterday and left 56 seamen unaccounted for after two tankers split apart in wild seas below Cape Cod.

Thirty-two seamen were pulled from the crippled stern of the tanker Pendleton several hours after the ship split in two—but the crew of 43 of the tanker Mercer were unaccounted for.

At least two of the Pendleton's crew apparently drowned during rescue operations. One fell into the swirling water and another dropped between a motor lifeboat and steel bulk of the Pendleton.

Others missing were believed to be aboard the drifting bow of the Pendleton.

(One of the survivors of the Pendleton wreck was Arthur Schuster, of Greeley, Pike County, Pa.)

Twenty-four died in New England, four in New York and one in New Jersey as a result of a storm which reached near blizzard proportions. Many of the deaths were due to over-exertion from snow shoveling.

Flood tides and 60-mile-an-hour winds accompanied the Winter's worst storm, which abated over most of the area late yesterday.

Southern Maine and Cape Cod were hard hit. Power and telephone lines were down on the cape. In Maine, 500 stranded motorists on a new super-highway huddled in a restaurant—an oasis midway on the turnpike at Kennebunk.

Snow depths varied from eight inches at Boston to 31 in sections of New Hampshire. Albany, N. Y., reported a 12-inch fall and schools closed in the northern areas. New Jersey got only a light dusting of snow.

Two Maine lobstermen drowned when they were caught offshore in their small boat. Shore communities north of Boston reported flooded streets from high tide. Four Revere families were forced to flee when waves broke into their seaside apartments.

Vehicle traffic was at a standstill in southern and central Maine.

The $120,000 dragger John Nagle sank at her Portland, Me., pier. Scores of Maine families were isolated as rural roads became impassable. Telephone operators could not reach their switchboards and company officials made radio appeals to limit calls to ease the over-taxed lines.

The 90-foot New Bedford fishing vessel Louise was disabled off Sable Island, Nova Scotia. A Coast Guard cutter stood by. Five merchant ships couldn't dock at Boston during the gale. Many newspapers published early because of delivery problems occasioned by drifts as high as six feet.

Big Three Confer With Adenauer

London, (AP) — The Big Three foreign ministers and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer took two big steps yesterday toward preventing German pride and French prejudice from wrecking the western defense buildup.

Informed sources said the four-power talks, which continued far into the night, ended with plans by Britain, France and the United States to meet French demands for guarantees that German participation in a European Army would not mean rebirth of German militarism.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman also was said to have agreed to negotiate a settlement of the Franco-German row over the future of the rich Saar basin. Adenauer is believed to have assured Schuman, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that he will take part in such negotiations. Settlement of the dispute is one of Germany's conditions for joining the proposed European Army.

Gas Well Catches Fire Third Time

Renovo, Pa., (AP) — A newly-brought in natural gas well burst into sky-scaring flames last night for the third time.

Gas experts on the scene said the new fire was touched off by a spark from the motor of a large scooping machine which had been removing earth from the top of the shaft.

The well, believed one of the largest in the world, first caught fire last Friday. For some unexplained reason, the blaze was snuffed out later that day—but only for a few moments as the red-hot derrick set it off again.

Then Sunday, the fire suddenly went out again. Paul (Red) Adair, a firefighting expert flown here from Texas, said yesterday's blaze seemed larger than the previous two.

Adair said he will attempt to blow out the flames today with 100 quarts of solid nitro-glycerine. Then an attempt will be made to seal the well with a cap capable of withstanding 10,000 pounds of pressure per square inch.

Six Naval Fliers Killed

Corpus Christi, Tex., (AP) — Six Navy fliers were killed about 4 p. m. (CST) yesterday when two planes collided in the air about five miles west of Rockport, Tex.

The planes were on a routine training flight from the Naval Air station here. They were not flying in formation. Both were twin-engine Beechcrafts attached to the advanced training command here.

The crash happened over the Rockport radio range. One plane fell 100 yards east of the range, the other a mile west of the range. Both burned.

Each plane carried a crew of three—an instructor and two student pilots.

Names of the dead will be released when next of kin are notified.

Only 19,000 To Be Drafted During April

Washington, (AP) — The Defense department yesterday issued a draft call for 19,000 men in April—15,000 for the Army and 4,000 for the Marine Corps.

The April call brings to 894,430 the total of announced draftees since Selective Service was resumed in September, 1950.

The Army has asked for 817,000 of the total and the Marine Corps for 77,430.

The April call is the lowest since last September when 16,900 men were requested by the two services and is the third lowest since the outbreak of the Korean war.

Atom-Bomb Carrying Plane May Take Part In New Tests

Washington (AP) — U. S. Aircraft types not yet used to deliver atomic bombs may get a chance at the assignment in a new test series scheduled shortly in the mid-Pacific.

The Defense department and Atomic Energy commission yesterday announced the new series in a guarded statement which gave no particulars about the exact date but said that preparations were under way for tests at Eniwetok proving grounds.

Officials indicated that little more information will be made public until after the new atomic series is completed. Full security measures have been established.

The announced results of previous atomic tests in the Pacific and in Nevada, however, led to the belief that a full-scale effort would not be warranted at this time in the distant reaches of the Pacific unless the officials responsible believed that they had new and more improved weapons to try out or that untried airplanes were ready for testing as live bomb carriers.

In previous atomic tests the air dropped bombs have been delivered by the same kind of B-29 Superforts which did the job in devastating raids on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War Two.

Both the Air Force and the Navy have since developed newer and faster atomic bomb carriers, aside from the giant B-36 bomber which was developed for the specific purpose of carrying the atomic bomb from the U. S. to any target on earth. This big plane, now undergoing transformation into an all-jet version, is known to have carried dummy atomic bombs. So far as is publicly known, it never dropped a live atomic bomb.

Jacob Altemose, Brislin Seek Democratic Chairmanship

B. K. Williams Unopposed For GOP Chieftain

Two Democrats entered the race for the party's county chairmanship yesterday — Sheriff Jacob Altemose and John A. Brislin, Stroudsburg RD3.

B. K. Williams, 86 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, present Republican county chairman, will be unopposed for renomination to the post.

Law requires 100 petition signers for a person running for the county chairmanship. Williams' list was topped by the name of Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe.

It was generally known in the county that Williams would be the Republican party choice for chairman.

Until yesterday, however—with in a quarter hour of the deadline—it was not established who would run for the Democratic chairmanship.

Deadline for filing was 4:30 p.m. Brislin handed in his petition about 4:15 p. m. at the chief clerk's office in the county courthouse.

Altemose's was turned in by Attorney Joseph McCluskey five minutes later. Altemose is reported to have considerable popularity among the "young Democratic" group.

A life-long county resident, Altemose is now serving his first elective office as sheriff. He defeated Republican Victor Henning, former deputy sheriff, for that post last November.

Altemose's father, the late Francis Altemose, served two terms as sheriff himself, and was a former superintendent of the county home. Brislin was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., took up residence in Monroe county after his return from service in 1946. He is operator of the Reenleigh hotel. He waged an unsuccessful campaign for the State Senate against Senator Crowe in 1950.

Both men are veterans. Altemose served with the Navy aboard a war vessel. Brislin was an Army man.

Drawing for positions on the ballot will be held at the courthouse Feb. 26.

Exactly 100 petitions for committeemen and committeewomen in the county were filed in the board of elections office.

1,610 Voters Who Haven't Cast Ballots In Two Years Required To Re-Register

More than 1,600 Monroe county voters will be reminded shortly that they haven't voted in two years.

Registration clerks yesterday were preparing to mail out from the county court house 1,610 double-postcards. The card will permit reinstatement of registration for the persons who haven't cast a ballot for a few years.

The cards must be filled out, signed and returned to the court house by March 1, or the recipients will be unable to vote this year.

Properly filled out and received by the March 1 deadline, the cards will permit reinstatement for the next two years.

In order to accommodate new registrants, Chief Clerk Harry

Hoover Advocates Reforms After Attacking 'Sickening' Conduct Of U.S. Employees

Washington, (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover last night called on Congress for civil service reforms to remove what he called the "humiliation" of "sickening conduct" by Federal officials.

Addressing a national conference of persons supporting the government reorganization proposals which his bi-partisan commission handed Congress three years ago, Hoover declared:

Bangor Okays Budget For $78,853.56

Bangor—The borough council approved a $78,853.56 budget for 1952 at a special meeting last night in the Bangor Municipal Building.

With President John Farleigh in charge the members voted an official increase of $12,600 over the preceding year and an increase of $1,600 over the temporary budget set up last month.

Departments receiving large increases were the Street Department, a $1,000 increase over 1951; Building and Grounds, $1,000; Street Lighting, $500; and $400 additional for Social Security payments.

The council voted to postpone until a later date the payment of $5,500 to erase indebtedness to the government for a proposed local sewer project.

Van D. Yetter Candidate For State House

Van D. Yetter Jr., of Marshalls Creek, one of the county's best known young business executives, yesterday formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative in the General Assembly.

Mr. Yetter's nomination petitions have been filed with the secretary of the Commonwealth at Harrisburg. He will be unopposed for the nomination at the April 22 primary, and oppose Rep. John S. Shotwell, Effort, Republican incumbent, at the November general election.

Mr. Yetter is a native of Marshalls Creek. He farmed an extensive tract of land in that region for a number of years before he entered the farm machinery sales business.

He has conducted the farm machinery and a car trailer sales business in Marshalls Creek for some 16 years.

Yetter served Smithfield township as supervisor for ten years. He has always been a registered Democrat and active in the affairs of that party.

Mr. Yetter is a member of Stroudsburg Rotary club, Eastern Pocono Resort association, Marshalls Creek Fire Co. which he helped organize and various other civic and fraternal organizations. He is a member of Lutheran church at Craigs Meadows and a trustee of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Yetter have four children.

Leon Koster Heads Board Of Recreation

The East Stroudsburg Borough Board of Recreation met last night to elect and install new officers for the year.

New officers elected were Leon Koster, president; James S. Bunell, vice president; James Copenhaver, treasurer and Carl T. Seor, secretary.

Vernon Gilliland, Jack Wyckoff and Roy Lloyd were named by the borough council as its representatives.

The school district will be represented by Horace Walters, James S. Bunell and Howard Eckert.

The Board of Recreation is made up of citizens of the borough elected by the council. At the meeting last night members discussed plans for summer recreation programs, including repairs and needed improvements for the playground.

Following a preliminary discussion of the proposed budget for the year the committee agreed to employ personnel for playground operation at the April board meeting.

The board members expressed their thanks to Horace Walters for his services as president during the past two years.

Louis Jacoby and Paul Neiderer served on the nominating committee for this year's election slate.

March 17 was set as the date for the next regular meeting of the board.

Supervisors said they hoped to black-top some 1.3 miles of township road this year, and the job would cost about $6,500. They asked a $3,000 grant from the county.

Altemose said he didn't believe the board would be in a position to give the $3,000.

Again, as in past meetings with township supervisors, Altemose pressed for some kind of long-range local planning of road improvements.

W. B. Bowlby, 94, Dies In Stroudsburg

William B. Bowlby, 94, of 1130 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, died at 7:15 p. m. yesterday at his home. Mr. Bowlby had been remarkably active until only recently.

Interviewed on his 90th birthday, Mr. Bowlby said he never bothered too much "with philosophies" and in fact "never let anything bother him much." That outlook, he maintained, contributed greatly to his "spryness."

Born in Stroudsburg, Mr. Bowlby was a son of David and Hester Bowlby. His wife preceded him in death in 1941.

Mr. Bowlby spent his entire life in Stroudsburg. He worked at the Tanite Company from 1885 to 1905, when he became a carpenter with Shiffer Brothers. Later he was a carpenter with the Wilkes-Barre & Eastern Railroad.

After leaving the railroad he set up an upholstery and furniture repair shop at the rear of his home. He had worked in the shop right up to his last illness. He was a member of Stroudsburg Methodist church, the Joseph Shiffer Bible class and for some time taught a Sunday school class at that church.

He is survived by one son, Arthur W. Bowlby.

Burglars Forces Entry Into Two More Public Garages But Loot Believed Small

Two Stroudsburg service station burglaries were reported by police yesterday.

Break-ins at the Robert Warner Inc. garage, 894 N. Ninth St., and at the Stroudsburg garage, Ninth and Sarah Sts., added to the crime list run up in the Stroudsburg area in recent months by the "weekend burglars."

Peter Starnner Dies At 87 In Hamilton

Peter Elmer Starnner, 87, died at his home in Hamilton Square at 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

Born in the Saylorsburg section, a son of the late Levi and Margaret Arnold Starnner, he had lived all his life in Monroe county.

Surviving are one son and three daughters; a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at Kresge funeral home, Brodheadsville. Interment will be made in Lake View cemetery, Saylorsburg.

The Atomic Boon

Hope for peace in the world seems to rest largely on the United States' stockpile of atomic bombs.

It is ironic that the best hope for preventing war is to prepare for it. But, in the present world, it is hope without alternative.

In the development of atomic energy for war, however, there is one relieving compensation—as compared to the buildup of other weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission devoted a third of its recent report to Congress to the non-war phases of its program.

This report holds promise of vast new developments in the production of food. Both yield and quality, it says, will be greatly improved, while costs are lowered.

This one phase of atomic benefaction alone ultimately may do more to stabilize both world economy and politics than anything yet attempted.

If the lot of underdog peoples is made more abundant, the opportunities for aggressors and tyrants will be that much reduced.

In a world of so little cheer, it is heartening to hear of a development with such vast possibilities of service to mankind.

Chicken-Feed Lawyers

Not all the laws passed by Congress are written in plain English. But the government creaks with trap-door lawyers who can make even plain English say what it doesn't.

There is a law, in plain English, which says no ex-employee of the government may prosecute any claim against the government within two years after he leaves the payroll.

But Sen. John J. Williams charges that Joseph D. Nunan, former Internal Revenue commissioner, did just that. Mr. Nunan, less than two years after he resigned his federal job, got a waiver from the Treasury to represent an Indianapolis brewing company in a tax case, Mr. Williams charges.

He said the original tax claim against this brewery was $812,098, that this later was scaled down to $636,000 and that the brewery ultimately got off for $4500, which is $631,500 less than the amount certified to the Justice Department for collection.

Moreover, this same brewery later got a $35,000 refund from the Treasury for "overpayment" of taxes—a refund which was paid the company months after it presumably had been liquidated.

In this case, according to the senator's charges, the Treasury simply waived the law. Government lawyers can produce a maze of interpretations, procedures, policies and explanations to justify the waiver.

But there is no way to waive the morality of this kind of business.

There is no way to twist the public interest into private gain—on a moral basis.

This is a simple case of lawyers "legalizing" a practice obviously against the public interest.

Mr. Nunan is a lawyer. Senator Williams, in private life, sells chicken feed.

What this country needs is more chicken-feed men—and we don't mean chicken-feed lawyers.

Aluminum is the most abundant metallic element.

Mostly Romantic Revelations
Billy Rose escorted Betty Furness (not Joyce Mathews, who is abroad) how many, if any, State Department employees ousted from the payroll are now working for other government agencies. The loyalty review board suspects there are many. At a recent session one review board member said this of the State Department's loyalty board:

"When they operate as they do—merely showing a resignation of the individual and he has this copy from the State Department, he immediately goes over to another agency and says: 'I have worked for the State Department for five years. Here's my personnel action sheet. I resigned a few weeks ago.' There's nothing on the personnel officer that there is an investigation on that person. He gets a job, or the person may be interested in him for other employment, and has to go running around the government to find that there is an investigation on the man."

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

An Ancient Symbol
The unparalleled interest shown by the American press and people in Queen Elizabeth II must be taken as a spontaneous outpouring of admiration for the royal family.

And it is not so much that this family is royal as it is that it has remained a family, in the finest sense of the word. It is the self-discipline, the feeling for dignity and a good name, the avoidance of superiority, that attracts so favorable a response.

Even the Duke of Windsor, who lives among us with his American wife, chose exile and gave up a throne in preference to weakening the ties that bind his family to the British people. He and his wife have been married for 15 years in circumstances that for one, accustomed to such an estate as his, is hardship. He has been deprived of living in the country over which he once reigned. He has been limited in his personal activities. He has been torn from his habits and his friends. He has been forced to form new relationships.

Windsor has given some of us a closer view of his family, for what usually surrounds royalty is distance and loneliness. Yet here one discovers men and women who, since Victoria, have consistently moved closer to the people. They have, in so many respects, become commoners in the sense that they stand on a level with their own countrymen, and standing there, have proved untrue the adage that familiarity breeds contempt.

They have outlived so many royal families in Europe by foregoing power and accepting, in its stead, respect and even reverence. It is a curious historic phenomenon that this German family should have learned so quickly and so purely that Ruytmade is a reality in the Anglo-Saxon world and that democracy is of the heart even more than in the law.

Perhaps it was in the grand-motherly nature of Victoria who could find a way to live with the austere Gladstone and the Oriental Disraeli and between them guide her nation to the apex of Empire. The sovereign who trusts the wisdom of her subjects is likely to become the mistress of their hearts. Victoria achieved that high estate, and Edward VII left it secure.

It was the misfortune of George V that Great Britain led in World War I and the history of England has since 1914 been clouded by all the horrors that beset a people constantly at war for nearly 38 years. The truce between World War I and World War II hardly served England, which, while liquidating the effects of one war, was caught in the necessities of another.

Yet this will be said in the historic recital of our times: it was the royal family that saved the Empire, for whereas its components may vary in race, color, and religious, political and social institutions, they are united in their acceptance of the Crown. This symbol of unity is more real in the British Dominions than any force or power. Canada reveres the royal family as Scotland or Australia or England or New Zealand does. And even South Africa, which is hardly British, remains within the symmetry of a reigning house that does not rule.

Elizabeth II and her husband, Philip, have been to this country and have comforted themselves well under circumstances which must have been difficult for them. In our curious ways, we love young people who are in love, and they obviously are. There was something of the homey in their relations and in their attitude and even in, to use a story from the Washington "Times-Herald," their forgetting to pull the blinds in Blair House. The Queen seemed like a co-ed who had been glorified and we were happy that she took it all in her stride.

I am not one who is moved by the differences in human estate, nor do I believe that accidents of birth produce perfections of character. Yet here is a family that has not become overweening in prosperity, that has not set position above public good, that has not permitted royal prerogatives to encourage profligacy and unseemly conduct.

They have made a home out of a palace and have built character out of privilege.

Try And Stop Me

Morey Amsterdam says that being a famous comedian isn't always what it's cracked up to be. People who have the reputation for being funny to make them laugh, regardless of circumstances. As an example, Morey was run over by a taxicab one afternoon, sustained a black eye, several contusions, and a sprained ankle. As he limped toward his house, a friend stopped him and asked, "Whassa idea of limping that way?" "I'm in agony," groaned Morey. "I just gave my ankle a very bad strain. Would not be surprised if the X-ray showed it was broken." "Hmph," sneered the friend. "What's so funny about that?"

A Greek theatre owner threw up his hands in despair at the new crop of Hollywood movies. He told Bob Sylvester, "They're all American to me!"

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—Brig. Gen. Conrad E. Snow is not the man to be head of the State Department's Loyalty Board.

Snow, apparently, is the suggestion of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, recently undertook a mud-slinging speech against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. It was filled with invective, but by the time Snow finished reading, it sounded more like a plaintive appeal to the Senator to go easy. McCarthy says State Department propagandists wrote the speech for Snow, but I wouldn't know about that, except to remark that if Snow did need help, there are dozens of propagandists on the payroll.

Snow has been head of the State Department's Loyalty Board since 1947. He said that his board had turned up "numerous" loyalty and security cases since that date. Maybe so, but the Loyalty Review Board, under Hiram Bingham, which reviews most of the State Department board's actions, says that Snow's group hasn't fired a single employee for either loyalty or security.

In fact, Bingham says that this is one of the most astounding records in government, especially since other agencies have found an average of from 6 to 10 per cent of their employees ineligible for government work under the loyalty-security program.

McCarthy continues to charge the State Department and other agencies with harboring Reds. Snow says this is a "sneer" and that there are no known Communists working in Acheson's department. Snow should be called before the McCarthy internal security subcommittee and told to put up or shut up.

Here is what Bingham has to say about Snow's board.

"I think it is fair to say that the State Department has the worst record of any department in the action of its loyalty board. The loyalty board in all the cases that it has considered in the state department has not found a single case of disloyalty."

Where does that leave Snow with his "numerous" cases of loyalty and security risks? Here is an opinion from another member of the loyalty review board in respect to Snow and his State Department loyalty board that may help answer the question:

"As far as State Department is concerned I don't understand their position at all, because although their board has not held their people ineligible under the loyalty test, who should have been held ineligible under that test, they have plenty of power to remove them as security risks. Why haven't they exercised it?"

That's a good question Snow ought to be made to answer before the McCarthy subcommittee. And while in the witness chair, Snow ought to be asked how many, if any, State Department employees ousted from the payroll are now working for other government agencies. The loyalty review board suspects there are many. At a recent session one review board member said this of the State Department's loyalty board:

"When they operate as they do—merely showing a resignation of the individual and he has this copy from the State Department, he immediately goes over to another agency and says: 'I have worked for the State Department for five years. Here's my personnel action sheet. I resigned a few weeks ago.' There's nothing on the personnel officer that there is an investigation on that person. He gets a job, or the person may be interested in him for other employment, and has to go running around the government to find that there is an investigation on the man."

To date, snow hasn't opened his mouth to protest Acheson's policy of permitting security and loyalty risks to resign, rather than be fired. If he wants to do his country a service he should protest this in a loud voice, instead of wasting his breath slinging mud at a United States Senator who does more to combat Communists in one day than Snow's board has done since 1947.

Snow seems to think the way to fight Communists in government is to sling mud at McCarthy. I respectfully call Senator Pat McCarran's attention to Snow's peculiar behavior as head of Acheson's loyalty board.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

I'll have seen just about everything beginning next month. Our health is going to be put on television! Your health, too. And your children's health, your grandmother's health, your Uncle John's health.

The New York County Medical Society, beginning late in February, will present a program entitled "Here's To Your Health."

For the time being, the program will be "sustaining." That means without a sponsor.

But after a while, I suppose they may intersperse their showings with commercials by drug

Damon Runyon fund will participate in a ball for the project, at the Waldorf, Feb. 21.

Dep. Atty. Gen. Stamler, who was taken off the Willie Moretti murder case, charges openly that this happened because he was getting too close to a solution. . . . There are reports that Charlie Chaplin contemplates leaving Hollywood and moving into a Caribbean estate, to be again under the jurisdiction of his native Britain. . . . Lynn Bari, the ex of Sid Luft, who is the next of Judy Garland, being surveyed with warm interest by Guy Harrison, the reality man. (He has lots) . . . Up to press time, Mickey Rooney's latest enamored was Beverly Cottrell. . . . Johnny Mills, London's cafe-owner, became so interested in Feliza Vanderbilt that he extended his stay here.

Return with a Point — Kurt Kazner isn't coming from the Coast for the ride. It's for a reunion with Debra Dana, in "Point of No Return." . . . Jean Sablon, at the Plaza will feature his own composition, "Girl of My Heart," which he dedicated to his beag luff, Praline, a famed Paris model. (Pralines are French confections popular in New Orleans; I hope the Plaza publicist isn't putting one over on me) . . . J. Anthony Johnston, whose play-script, "The Least of These," is going the rounds, was just Joe Johnston until his agents, Baxton, Wolf, thought the author of a Biblical should have a high-sounding moniker. The original Book was written by men with very plain names.

houses, beer brewers, cosmetic manufacturers.

I don't know what kind of sponsors they are going after, I am just guessing.

According to the announcement, the program will "acknowledge the public's right to receive authoritative information from medical experts; explain and evaluate the newest scientific discoveries in medicine; to expose false claims and misrepresentations of medical facts; create a greater bond of understanding between the patient and the doctor; replace anxiety and fear with encouragement and hope."

The first thing this new program should do is to expose the ridiculously exaggerated claims made by many of the patent medicine and cosmetic advertisers on radio and television.

In the newspapers and magazines these advertisers maintain a certain degree of decorum, because they are not permitted to let themselves go completely.

But on radio and its younger child, television, they go the limit.

Every day and every night completely ridiculous claims are made for all sorts of remedies and so-called cures.

Every time I listen to one of those spels—being a very glib person—I feel all sorts of symptoms, and often I cannot go to sleep worrying about them.

With the aid of radio and television advertising I have every disease in the book, from housemaid's knee to pips.

I have spent a young fortune with my doctor consulting him about a lot of imaginary diseases which I was sure I had because they were described so vividly by radio announcers.

And now the medical society wants to replace my anxiety and fear with encouragement and hope.

I wish the program the best of luck.

Perhaps they will show me a beautiful buxom blonde with arthritis to prove how pleasant arthritis can be.

Perhaps they will present an enticing movie actress with a poodle haircut and pneumonia, just to make me wish I had it.

Maybe they will try to convince me, on television, how a fellow who is losing his hair and putting on weight can still be attractive to his wife.

I am dying to see that program!

Hollywood — The day Robert Young's fourth daughter was brought home, new-born from the hospital, the actor was outnumbered 12 to 1 by the female sex.

That included the cook, maid, twice-a-week laundress, once-a-week seamstress, two nurses, and Bob's mother-in-law. Even when just his wife and four daughters are there, he says, "I'm pretty well out-voted."

But the slender, easy-going star enjoys his minority role. "Actually, I was never too much set on the idea of having a boy," he says. "I've found there's no point in resisting or fighting the situation. I might as well go along with it."

Doctor — Are you going to run again or not?

President — I am fed up with the job, but I am willing to make a sacrifice if the people wish.

Doctor — Yes, yes, go on! I begin to understand.

President — I would agree to be a candidate again if convinced it would be necessary to preserve the peace.

Doctor — Ah, I see it all now!

President — What?

Doctor — The old feeling of indispensability is creeping over you. It looks bad.

President — What do you mean it looks bad?

Doctor — There are few cures. In fact I can't recall a recorded case where the victim got over it. Rooseveltitis, we call it in the medical books.

President — What are the symptoms?

Doctor — You begin to think you are essential to the well being of the world, you have visions of infallibility and you have recurrent dreams of the what-could-the-cosmos-do-without-me type.

President — Do you have to be so blunt, doc?

Doctor — Do you want a diagnosis or just an endorsement of your ambitions? Listen, do you see spots before your eyes?

President — Certainly.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It was particularly appropriate that Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff, organizing regent of the local DAR, should play the role of the first president general of the national society in the play at the DAR meeting yesterday afternoon.

As the wife of President Harrison, Mrs. Wyckoff made an impressive entrance, the cast stood up in tribute—and the American flag fell forward with a mighty thud—and cast and audience were caught up in gales of laughter.

Any way, it effectively broke the ice, and from then on the play went with a naturalness that was inspired. And besides those women were in a natural setting—a club meeting, where they're all right at home.

But if the DAR was looking back yesterday afternoon, the Stroudsburg PTA was looking forward to a night. I can sympathize with them. They must feel just the way the housewife does looking forward to spring cleaning—and not the spring cleaning, re-wiring, re-plumbing that ought to be done.

Except the school authorities are faced with a school family that's multiplying faster than rabbits and has to be put somewhere, so they can't just wearily decide to let the whole thing go until the children get past the feet-on-the-furniture stage as many a housewife does.

Everybody's got problems—but it would be a pretty dull world otherwise.

Future Needs Outlined For Local School

The coming generation of school children pressing in on schools already overcrowded made the program at the Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers association last night, on "Our Schools and the Future" a matter of more than academic interest.

Earl Groner, superintendent of the Stroudsburg schools outlined the over-all problem confronting both the elementary schools and the high school.

The elementary school need for more space will become more acute with each coming year, he said. The greatest building need is in the Morey region where five rooms, and a kindergarten, administration offices and an auditorium could begin to cope with the growing elementary school population.

Roger Dunning, principal of the elementary schools, supported the program pointing out the need for facilities for an assembly hall, which could combine with a gymnasium for the physical education program, the need for rooms for an ungraded class, and the necessity of increasing the size of classes unless more rooms were available.

Continuing with high school problems, Mr. Groner inventories the present space with a study hall in the balcony being disturbed by practices of band and choral groups held of necessity in the auditorium below; of the fact that there wasn't room to take all of the ninth grade girls in the home economics department, or of the academic students in the typing classes; of the physical education needs and the intramural program in the gymnasium; no room for farm machinery for the vocational agriculture group; no room for the full band to practice; no room for students to use the splendid library facilities; no room for a much needed cafeteria for school lunches.

A. W. Munson, principal of the high school, also reported on overcrowded conditions, and lack of space even for school files.

The problems of finance, complicated by the fact that there was no guarantee that the districts now sending tuition students to Stroudsburg High school would continue to do so indefinitely, were outlined.

Mr. Groner mentioned the joint plans and unified district plan for school districts provided for by the state, which might solve that particular problem, but which could only be initiated by the other school districts involved.

The program of adequate schools for all the children of the community is possible, he said, but only through the support of an interested and informed citizenry.

Mrs. Elton Dunning, president, presided at the opening session when the invocation was given by Rabbi Maurice Ideil. Mrs. Arthur Ifft explained the Founders' Day program and Mrs. Merle E. Stevenson announced the Band Parents' cake walk on Friday night at 7:30.

Mrs. J. L. Cohen announced the program which opened with a recital by the madrigal chorus under the direction of Numa Snyder.

Missionary From New Mexico To Speak Wednesday

The Rev. William Lytle, a young Presbyterian minister engaged in National Missions work for the Presbyterian church, will be visiting in Stroudsburg this Wednesday night to pay a visit to the First Presbyterian church. The local congregation has had a share in Mr. Lytle's financial support ever since he took up his duties in the western United States.

Mr. Lytle was a Princeton classmate of the local pastor, the Rev. Ernest T. Campbell. He is a graduate of Wooster College in Ohio, an unusually sound scholar and a man of great ability.

Mr. Lytle has been working in and around Reserve, New Mexico. His parish is so strung out that he must travel over 200 miles to go from one end of it to the other. He has labored in Indian villages and in cattle raising communities. In the summer months he busies himself with the Ranchmen's Camp Meetings, many of which are held in the western states each summer as a service to ranchers and cattlemen whose work throughout the year tends to keep them away from church.

Mr. Lytle will be the guest of the church at the 6:15 family supper hour. At 7 o'clock, during the mid-week prayer hour, he will speak about his work in the west. The public is cordially invited to meet this young man and hear his message.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

It may have looked as though the women of Wyckoff's were having a party back in the Tea Room yesterday afternoon . . . but we weren't. The laughter and chatter was just preliminary to the party that is being planned for you in celebration of Leap Year Day. This event is to be the crowning touch of a very busy few months at Wyckoff's . . . and we use the word "crown" advisedly. For emphasis will be put on hats . . . all kinds of hats, funny, glamorous, and downright eccentric.

For those of you who may be newcomers to this area, let's sketch in the background. As all Wyckoff shoppers know, the women employees are given the opportunity each year to take over the store lock, stock and barrel for a brief period—two days usually—at which time they may run things pretty much in their own way. Being women their thoughts usually swirl along in one deep channel spelled "Bargains" . . . and while they are at the helm, housewives are assured of buys such as they may never see again until another Women's Day rolls around.

Naturally, a great deal of secrecy surrounds most of the plans . . . because we're trying to outmaneuver the men, and if they get wind of everything before the big day there's a possibility the idea may be "borrowed." It all makes for a lot of fun . . . a great deal of kidding and laughter . . . and plenty of excitement.

But back to the party! (We surely do leap from one topic to another, don't we?) This year the women will be in charge of Wyckoff's on Friday, February 29th and Saturday, March 1. Women's Days will begin with a one-half hour broadcast from the Tea Room where breakfast will be served free to every woman wearing an unusual hat. Now this hat needn't be something purchased for the occasion . . . in fact, we hope it won't be, for we sell hats here and you can shop after breakfast. No . . . the hat you wear can be made of pot holders, sugar scoops, and boiled spaghetti, if you wish. It can be funny, antique, beautiful, utterly mad or just plain clever. Newcomers are particularly welcome; limerick winners will also be feted, and everybody is assured of a lot of fun. There will be prizes galore. Plan now—won't you?—to LEAP INTO SPRING with the women of Wyckoff's!

Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser played the part of the hostess, Mrs. Lockwood; Mrs. Warren Mikels was the maid; Mrs. John Shupp, Miss Washington; Mrs. Marvin Abel, Miss Desha; Mrs. I. W. Foltz, Mrs. Walworth; Mrs. E. H. Calkins, Mrs. Goode; Mrs. R. Fredenberg, Mrs. Cabell; Mrs. Allen Zahorik, Mrs. McDonald; and Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff, Mrs. Harrison.

Mrs. Nelson Beers and Mrs. L. V. Rundle were directors and Mrs. Ashton L. Burrows was in charge of properties.

At the tea which followed Mrs. George Dunning and Miss Ruth Pipher presided at the tea table which had a red drum as its centerpiece, flanked by a Revolutionary musket and sword, with bayberry and red leaves in a woody arrangement.

Benefit Wednesday A benefit party will be held Wednesday night at the VFW home under the auspices of the VFW auxiliary for the benefit of the March of Dimes fund.

Reports coming out of Bangor indicate that Dick Pritchard has received two offers to go to spring training with professional baseball teams. The offers reportedly came from a club in the class "D" Longhorn league, in Texas, and Three Rivers, Que., a member of the class "C" Provincial league. However, it is also reported that Dick will turn down both offers and play with the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College diamond aggregation in the spring. Bob Stephens, who caught and played the outfield for Roseto, of the Blue Mountain league last year, has reportedly also received an offer from the same Longhorn league.

Pritchard held down shortstop and also did some pitching for the same Roseto club, where he batted an even .300. This column has been informed that an article appearing in next week's Colliers magazine lists Harry Schaeffer as one of the American league's prize rookies for the coming campaign. Harry hurried for the Stroudsburg Poconos, of the class "D" North Atlantic league, in 1946 and 1947 and is also a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. This same writer picks the Dodgers to win the National league pennant and Cleveland to take home the marbles in the American circuit.

Art Wall Jr., a familiar figure on the Pocono Manor golf course and a resident of Honesdale, won $65 in the Texas Open which came to an end at San Antonio, Tex. on Sunday. Art was tied for eighth place after the first round. Wall's father is a former Wayne county commissioner and is now a candidate for representative in the state legislature. Art Jr. is a graduate of Duke University. Art and Carl Bell, Damascus coach and a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, went to school together for a brief time.

Charley Decker, former Waymart High basketball ace, was the big reason why Keystone Junior College won its first game in ten outings recently. Decker came up with 41 points and Keystone took the measure of Binghamton Tech, 59-44. Charley came up with 14 field goals and 13 foul shot conversions. This same Decker has come up with 238 points in the Tri-County league, although having played only six games thus far, less than half the contests his team, Lakewood, has played. Charley is 30 points out in front of his nearest competitor.

Prior to his 41-point demonstration, Decker had scored 24 points against the Altoona Undergraduate Center, although Keystone went down to a 77-58 defeat. In four junior college games Decker has scored 100 points. Charley's average in the Tri-County league is 39.9 points per contest. Jack Davis is the only member of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling cage machine listed among the top 15 scorers in the Wayne County conference, and he holds down the final spot with 95 markers in seven games. The scoring list, which features Waymart's Bill Houman in first place with 179 tallies, includes games of Tuesday, February 12.

Bob Keltz, an outstanding athlete at Honesdale High last season, is also a member of the Keystone Junior College basketball contingent. John Gallagher, a graduate of ESSTC, assisted with the scoring and announcing duties at Sunday's American league basketball game between Scranton and Wilkes-Barre. The 32-0 lacing taken by the Warriors in wrestling on Saturday, at the hands of Millersville, was bad, but it also happens at other schools. Gettysburg's power-packed grout and green sound hung a 30-0 lacing on Bucknell, also on Saturday.

Illness of key performers forced several schools to substitute their original choices for the Monroe County League All-Star teams that will move into action at the East Stroudsburg High school court tonight. Tobyhanna township will oppose the All-Stars in the varsity tussle for the third straight year, while the Polk High junior varsity tangles with a similar group of All-Stars in the preliminary tussle. Proceeds from the affair will make the annual league banquet possible.

At least one performed reported last night that the Y's Men missed the presence of Rev. Ernest Campbell and Gail "Doc" Fegley in their lineup against Pottsville YMCA. Both of the high scoring cagers were unable to make it for last night's encounter. One member of the Eagles predicted a victory over the Yets yesterday afternoon in an Industrial league contest at the Monroe County YMCA. The Eagles then came up with a fourth period rally to take the league leaders into camp, 52-46, last night.

Monroe County League To Hold All-Star Contest

TTHS, Polk Battle Cream Of Talent

Tobyhanna Township and Polk High schools will oppose the best the remainder of the Monroe County League has to offer tonight, in varsity and junior varsity basketball games to be played before an expected capacity crowd at the East Stroudsburg High school gymnasium.

Polk, number one team in the junior varsity league, will tangle with the junior varsity all-stars in the preliminary tussle, while TTHS, for the third straight year, will take on the best the remainder of the circuit has to offer by way of basketball competition.

Tonight's preliminary encounter is slated to get underway at 7:30 p.m., and the main event for approximately one hour later.

Otto "Junior" Mills, president of the league, released last night the names of those who will campaign for the respective all-star contingents.

Barrett had originally planned to send Ralph Williams and Paul Gravel for the varsity club and Paul Williams and Ken Smith for the junior varsity contingent.

However, both Williams boys are ill and Don Dougherty has been named to the varsity and Joe Wilson to the junior varsity as replacements.

John Bonser and Bob Serfass, both of Chestnut Hill, will serve on the varsity, while Bill Everett and Harold Burkett, of the same school, have been selected for the junior varsity lineup.

Coolbaugh and Tom Pope were selected for the varsity team from Coolbaugh, but Coach Don Wismer announced late last night that Pope is ill and won't be able to play and in turn has been replaced by Andy Sapp. Jim Kinsley and Francis Yakita were named to the junior varsity club, but because of illness Kinsley has been replaced by Dave Keiper.

Larry Peechatka and Bob Hall will represent Pocono in the varsity lineup, while Ronald Boyer and Tom Williams took their stuff in the junior varsity contest.

Polk, naming varsity players only, has selected Henry "Hank" Kreechel and Dick Albright, while TTHS, selecting junior varsity players only, named John Walitz and Diebert Heller to the club.

The final standings of the circuit found TTHS winning its third straight title with a record of ten wins and no setbacks. Barrett and Coolbaugh were tied for second place, with six wins and four defeats, while Polk held down the number three spot, with five victories and the same number of setbacks. Chestnut Hill was fifth with two wins and eight defeats and Pocono last, on the strength of one win and nine setbacks.

Harry Werkheiser, Pocono High, has been named to coach the junior varsity, while Wismer directs the destinies of the varsity all-stars.

Pocono Jets Come From Behind To Win

Tannersville — Facing a four-point deficit at the end of the first period, the Pocono Jets rallied in the second round and went on to defeat the measure of the Mighty Five here last night, 56-49, on the Pocono High school court.

The Mighty Five held an 11-7 lead at the end of the first stanza, but the Jets moved out in front at halftime, 26-25, after holding a 19-14 advantage in the second round.

Same Story
It was the same story in the second half as the Jets held a 15-11 advantage in the third period and 15-13 in the last quarter.

The Jets made 14 of 21 foul shots, while the Mighty Five came up with 11 conversions in 14 charity attempts.

Eight Teams Officially In Pocono Mountains Circuit

Bartonville—Eight teams were approved by the Pocono Mountains Baseball League for the 1952 season here at a league meeting last night. Applications of the eight were received and acted upon favorably at the gathering.

The clubs certain of campaign next season are Saylorsburg, Lake Harmony, Anomink, Kunkletown, Tannersville, West End A. C., Barrett and Bushkill. Reeders and Pocono Lake have also submitted applications, but they haven't been acted upon to date.

John Wernett, secretary of the circuit, announced that next month's meeting would be the deadline for application for a berth in the league.

Marshall Bohner was named commissioner of the circuit at the meeting, while District Attorney Elmer Christie will serve as legal advisor. Bob Hawks, Barrett, was named chairman of the by-laws committee.

Each team is to select a member to serve on the by-laws committee. The schedule committee is expected to be named at next month's meeting.

Clinton Getz, president of the league, presided over the meeting. Approximately 30 attending the meeting enjoyed a buffet luncheon served by Bill and Mary Sassi, owners of Bartonville hotel, where the business session was held.

Ladies Bowl Tonight
Members of the East Stroudsburg Ladies' League will bowl at Harmon's Recreation today, at 6:45 p.m. Schedule follows:
Alleys one and two—Quick's Lounge vs Twin County Distributors.
Alleys three and four—Palace Diner vs Gap View Inn.
Alleys five and six—Eagles vs Square Bar.

Reeders Club To Meet
Reeders — The Reeders baseball club, an annual entry in the Pocono Mountains League, will hold an important business meeting at the Jackson Township school on Thursday, at 8 p.m.

Eagles Upset Vets, 52-46; Y's Men Bow

A six-point edge in the final period enabled the Eagles to fly to a 52-46 victory over the Vets, the number one team in the Industrial League, in the circuit contest at the Monroe County YMCA last night. The Pottsville YMCA quintet rolled over the Y's Men in the nightcap of the doubleheader, 50-41.

Henry "Hank" Stetler and Tom Sommers came up with a pair of 17-point performances to lead the Eagles to victory, after the Vets tied the count at the end of three periods, 28-28. The Eagles held a 20-10 advantage at half-time.

Power
The Pottsville YMCA unleashed its power to completely dominate the nightcap. The winning aggregation held a 35-14 advantage at the halfway mark.

Byron "Chick" Miller led the losing attack with 14 points, on seven field goals. All members of both teams came up with at least one field goal.

Tannersville Defeats Pocono Lake To Maintain Safe Lead

Tannersville—Tannersville continued to hold a tight grasp on first place in the Pocono Mountains league today, following its convincing 52-56 victory over Williams' Pocono Lake Cut Rate drug store, here on the Pocono High school court.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt, as Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling and Harry Warner scored 20, 16 and 15 markers respectively to lead the pace setters to the comfortable margin of victory.

Advantage
Tannersville led 18-9 at the end of the first period and 41-23 at the halfway mark, after holding a 23-14 edge in the second round.

Pocono Lake had the better of the going in the third round, 16-14, but Tannersville came back to make certain of victory with a 27-17 scoring bulge during the final ten minutes of action.

Tannersville made eight of 18 foul shots, while Pocono Lake rang the bell on six of 14 tosses from the same distance.

Middle Smithfield—Pocono Junior High will oppose Middle Smithfield school here on the latter's home floor today, at 3:30 p.m.

Taking part in this most unusual affair will be all local basketballers who are well known as athletes.

Bangor To Invade Wilson Borough

Bangor—Bangor High, which has been able to win only one of six second-half Lehigh-Northampton League basketball games, will tangle with a strong Wilson borough contingent today, on the latter's home floor.

The junior varsity tussle is listed for 6:45 p.m. and the main event for approximately 8:15.

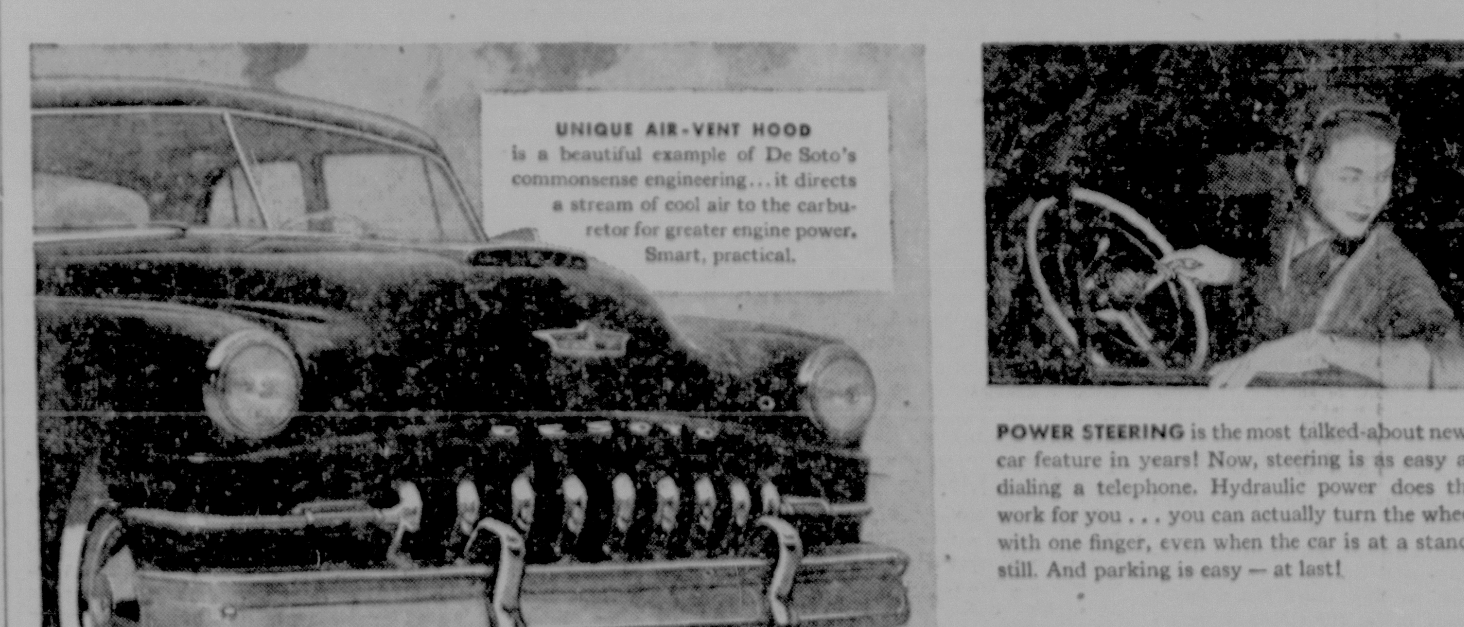

Talent
Bangor's lineup will probably feature Asa Pysher and Joe D'Imperio at the forward berths. Jim Rowlands at center, and Joe Heard and Bob Egbert at the guard positions.

Last Place At Stake
Pocono Jets and MIU tangle in a Senior Y League game at the Monroe County YMCA today, at 7:15 p.m., with the losing team destined to fall into last place.

Line Material, Nash Ramblers Down Rivals

Line Material and Nash Ramblers were the victorious cage machines in the Biddy Basketball League at the Monroe County YMCA yesterday. Line Material took the measure of Koren's Roofers, 38-27, while the Ramblers scored a 37-28 decision over the Colonial Diner.

The outcome of the first game was never in doubt, as Line Material opened up a six-point bulge at the end of the first period and moved into a 24-14 lead at the halfway mark. The winning team held a two-point edge in the third quarter and won with plenty to spare, even though the Roofers had a 7-6 edge during the last round.

Same Pattern
Nash Ramblers used the same pattern to sink the Colonial Diner in the nightcap, although the losing team had the better of the second half, 18-15. The Nash quintet led 9-3 at the end of the first period and 22-10 at the halfway mark.

High scoring honors for the day went to Knapp, forward for the Ramblers, with a total of 18 points, accounted for on nine field goals.

Kentucky Still Number One Quintet In Nation

New York (AP) — Kentucky's tremendous basketball team, already assured of a berth in the NCAA post season tournament and virtually certain of a spot in the National Invitation, was named for the fifth straight week as the top college team in the country yesterday.

The Southeastern Conference champions, winners of 16 straight and owners of an overall record of 22-2, were listed first on 36 ballots. In all, 104 sports writers and sportscasters from coast to coast participated in the Associated Press poll.

Here is how the teams ranked behind Kentucky in the third

teenth AP poll:
Kansas State, Duquesne, Iowa, Illinois, Washington, Kansas, St. John's of Brooklyn, St. Louis and St. Bonaventure.

Result
Kentucky rolled 885 points as compared to 754 for Kansas State, which drew 16 first place votes. Duquesne received only four first place votes but attracted enough second and third place ballots to beat out Iowa for third place, 604 to 532. The Dukes of Pittsburgh are the only undefeated quintet among the big time college schools. Kansas State has dropped three out of 19 and Iowa has been beaten only once

In 17 outings.
Illinois (15-2), sharing the Big Ten lead with Iowa, captured fifth place with 479 points. Washington (2-3) got nine first place votes, more than any other team except Kentucky and Kansas State, to take over sixth spot.

There was no change from last week's top ten except for some shifting of positions. Iowa and Illinois moved up a notch, Washington gained two places as did Kansas. St. John's rose from tenth to eighth as a result of its triumph over St. Bonaventure, which dropped from fourth to tenth. St. Louis fell from seventh to ninth.

Stroudsburg Invades Slatington Court Tonight

Stroudsburg High moves into the home stretch of its 1951-1952 basketball schedule today, when the Mountaineers invade the home domain of Slatington High, for a junior varsity and varsity basketball program. Following tonight's encounter the Mountaineers will have only two games remaining on the present schedule, both to be played on the road.

The junior varsity encounter is scheduled to get underway at 7 p. m. and 8:15 is the time set for the varsity battle.

Stroudsburg opened the second-half of the Lehigh Valley League flag race with victories over Palmerton and Emmaus, but since that time have dropped successive outings to Lehigh, Catasquig and Whitehall, in that order. The loss to Whitehall was a 60-54 affair in overtime.

Lineup
Coach Sam Russell announced last night that he would stick with the same array of talent that opened hostilities against the Zephyrs. This means that Dave "Muscles" Everett and Al Adelmann will be at the forward berths, while high scoring Gene Caske operates out of the center spot. Jack Newell and Karl Weingartner will take care of the guard positions.

Russell also announced that Captain Alden "Red" Fetherman is definitely lost to the team for the remainder of the season, with a chipped ankle bone. The damage occurred in the Catasquig contest and Fetherman was unable to face Whitehall last Friday.

In an earlier meeting of the two clubs Stroudsburg was forced to rally in the final quarter to pile up a 61-46 verdict.

East Stroudsburg enjoys an open date on its schedule tonight, as the Cavaliers prepare for Thursday's Lehigh - Northampton League battle with Fountain Hill, on the N. Courtland St. boards.

College Court Tilt Cancelled

Oscar J. Liljenstein, director of athletics at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, announced last night that tonight's scheduled basketball game with Lock Haven had been definitely cancelled. The contest was listed for the Normal Hill hardwood.

A flu epidemic at Lock Haven, which has affected 90 students and half of the basketball team, was given as the reason for cancellation.

No Agreement
Several dates were mentioned by both schools as possibilities on which to play the game. However, the new dates would force the Warriors to play three games a week, which is against ESSTC regulations.

Lock Haven had taken the Warriors into camp earlier in the present campaign, 72-56, on the Bald Eagles' home hardwood.

ESSTC returns to action tomorrow, when the Warriors invade Millersville State Teachers College.
